

G.O.R.I.L.L.A - Go Out, Read Interesting Literature & Learn Alot - A Contribution to the Herb Voland Memorial Tour

A Peter Hotvedt Packet

Toss Ups

1. This man wrote a four-movement song for his appearance at Carnegie Hall titled “The Blind Leaving the Blind” which is said to reference this man’s divorce from Jesse Meighan in 2004. Andrew Leahy of Rolling Stone magazine wrote that this man preserved his show’s appeal by reaching out to younger generations. At age 15, this man appeared as a guest on a show he now hosts, and this man’s first hosting outing for that show took place on October 15, 2016 at the Fitzgerald Theater. For ten points identify this man, a member of the “Punch Brothers” and current host of the radio show “Live from Here”.
 - a. Chris Thile (Thee-lee) [Do not accept Garrison Keillor] <Radio>
2. One film of this type is a slasher film about students attempting to fly kites during the winter solstice and is titled Fish & Cat. Another film in this style was directed by American director Mike Figgis, involves the film screen split into four quadrants and is titled Timecode. The winner of the Oscar for Best Picture from 2014 is made to appear to be one of these films, though it is actually subtly edited to transition scenes together. Popularized by Bela Tarr’s rendition of Macbeth, for ten points, identify this filming style that makes a film appear similar to a theatrical performance due to its lack of jump cuts.
 - a. One shot film [Accept anything referencing a film with a continuous take] <Film>
3. Before a fight on the Delaware River, the protagonist of this work reveals he has a fetish for girls with bug-bites. Another character in this work disguises themselves as a man, but is really a nun from the vatican in search for the dead body of Jesus Christ. The antagonist of this manga is able to transport himself between dimensions by crushing himself between two objects, and that character is the 23rd president of the United States, Funny Valentine. Johnny Joestar and Gyro Zeppeli race across the United States on horseback in, for ten points, which manga, the seventh part of JoJo’s Bizarre Adventure?
 - a. Steel Ball Run [Prompt JoJo’s Bizarre Adventure: Part 7 until mention] <Comics>
4. After this event, one of the two people involved claimed he had no idea what happened. Prior to this event, one of the people involved threw two incomplete passes, and the team involved called the play “Buffalo Right, Seven Heaven”. During a radio broadcast of this event, Pete Bercich [bur-sich] shouted “Stay inbounds” in reference to the receiver, and Paul Allen coined this event’s name immediately after the touchdown. For ten points, name this event that occurred during the 2017 NFC Divisional Playoff game where Case Keenum passed to Stefon Diggs to give the Minnesota Vikings the win over the New Orleans Saints.
 - a. The Minneapolis Miracle [Accept descriptions like Keenum’s touchdown Pass to Diggs before mention] <Sports--Football>
5. This song plays over a montage of people vomiting, falling out of a car, and eating cake in a video created by George Miller. One comment on a video featuring this song simply says “Angry german girl noises” in reference to a fight from a 1997 animated film. In Se7en, Somerset and Mills research the seven deadly sins in a library to this song, which is preceded by the line “How’s this for culture?” This piece’s composition features four staves for first and second violins, violas and the continuo play. For ten points, identify this song by Johann Sebastian Bach, the second movement from Suite No.3 in D Major whose name references its light sound.
 - a. Air [Accept Movement 2 from Suite No.3 in D Major until mention or Movement 2 from BWV 1068; Do not accept Air on the G String] <Popular Music--Classical with Trash Clues>

6. One expansion pack for this game includes roles like “The Illuminati” and “The Black Card”, which, if used correctly and deceptively, can be instant-win roles. This isn’t “Town of Salem”, but players can play roles such as “the Anarchist”, or “the Drunk”. In most cases, if there are an odd number of players in this game, the group of players is encouraged to include the card called “The Gambler” whose sole goal is to predict whether the Red Team or Blue team has won the game. The blue team wins if the president and bomber are in opposite locations in, for ten points, what “explosive” mafia-like card game created by Tuesday Knight Games?
- a. Two Rooms and a Boom <Games>
7. A teenager named Amber commented that she didn’t think this ad “would get a very positive response. From that same video of teens reacting to this advertisement, a girl comments on this advertisement’s subject wearing a carhartt jacket while walking through a forest. This political advertisement video gained approximately 600,000 dislikes within five days of being posted, mainly due to its blatant homophobia and the subject of this video claims that he’ll “fight against liberal attacks on [his] religious heritage”. For ten points, identify this poorly received campaign advertisement for Rick Perry’s 2012 Presidential Campaign.
- a. Strong [Prompt on “That one Rick Perry Ad”] <Advertisement>
8. This character’s final appearance shows him crying in front of his psychologist, though it is not because of his inherent phobia of ducks. After using a malfunctioning death-ray, this character experiences his first instance of pain, and earlier in the series this character is able to stop a Wonderflonium heist by damaging a remote-control receiver. In one painfully awkward interaction with the protagonist, this character reveals he had slept with a girl named Penny and explains that the “hammer is [his] penis”. For ten points name this superhero, the antagonist of “Dr. Horrible’s Sing-along Blog” played by Nathan Fillion.
- a. Captain Hammer <Musicals>
9. Former presidential candidate Ralph Nader claimed that this event had “the worst officiating... that anyone [could] remember”. During this event, Scot Pollard fouled out within 11 minutes of playing, and Chris Webber was called on a jump hook with 3 minutes left to play. Another controversial call during this match involved no penalty being called for Mike Bibby getting elbowed in the face by Kobe Bryant, whose team would go on to win the following game. For ten points, identify this controversial matchup between the L.A. Lakers and the Sacramento Kings, that has repeatedly thought have to been fixed by the NBA.
- a. Game 6 of the 2002 Western Conference Finals <Sports--Basketball>
10. One level set in video game setting has music tracks with titles “Combat Night”, “Neon Paradise” and “Scorching Subzero”, and the fourth level from a game in the same series subtitled “Advance” is essentially named after this video game setting. One level taking place in this video game setting features a boss named Goht [goat]. If one is feeling sadistic, they made choose to throw a baby penguin off the side of this setting, though they will then not receive a Power Sar from its mother. For ten points, identify this type of video game setting that describes places like the fourth zone from Super Mario 64.
- a. Ice Mountain [Accept Ice Mountain Zone or or anything that relates a snowy mountain, prompt on Ice or Snow Levels] <Video Games>
11. One man in an episode of this series is convinced that one character’s actions are prompted by red-green colorblindness. Another episode in series features Justin Roiland singing a Phil Collins song while a cat stands in a phone booth. This web series began reproducing videos 2017 asking people to call a phone number stating their name and the number of people they’ve had sex with, after a nine year hiatus. In one of this web series’ episodes, John Blythe Barrymore examines a comic about a cat who hates Mondays. For ten points, identify this internet series that parodies Garfield strips and features a humorous tribute to Jim Davis.
- a. Lasagna Cat <Misc.--Internet Videos>

12. One song on this album has lyrics that asks “If you don’t keep a pole, how you ready when there’s beef?” during a short piano interlude, while another song on this album features uncredited vocals from a member of Big Nuz. The music video of one of the songs on this album’s features singer SZA singing amongst a celestial backdrop, and that song is titled “All the Stars”. During early parts of songs on this album like “Big Shot” and “Paramedic!”, the main artists reference both characters and locations present in this album’s namesake movie. For ten points, identify this album, a collaboration by various rap artists frontlined by Kendrick Lamar.
- a. Black Panther: the Album <Music--Rap>
13. One character on this show claims that, as an animal hero, he would never steal a creature named Chewcrocca. Another character on this show has his feet grow to extreme sizes as a result of magnetite, and his father, Coop, is played by Tony Hawk. One episode in this tv show involves the main antagonist building a giant statue of himself to blast propaganda, while his minions, Buzz and Delete, operate a “surrender hotline”. Christopher Lloyd plays “The Hacker” in, for ten points, what PBS animated TV series that follows Matt, Jackie and Inez’s adventures in cyberspace?
- a. Cyberchase <Television>
14. One song by the Wu Tang Clan with this sport in its title notes that “Toad style is immensely strong, and immune to nearly any weapon” and its music video shows two hooded figures playing half of this sport. Early versions of this sport were said to have been formed from a habitual version of one half of this sport, between training sessions of the other. As of October 2014, champions of this sport include Greg Foakes in the featherweight division and Nikolay Sazhin in the heavyweight division. Iepe Rubingh invented, for ten points, what hybrid sport that combines a cerebral board game with a physical combat match.
- a. Chessboxing [Do not accept just “chess” or “boxing”] <Sports--Alternative>
15. In this game, four plant-like creatures, who resemble the Beatles, sing a song similar to “Being for the Benefit of Mr. Kite” about their lagoon’s pollution. In another area in this game, a bat and vulture, decide to give the protagonists directions so that the protagonists leave them alone. Upon completing tasks like placing dates on a calendar and replacing a house’s address, the player can receive various colors of Sneeze Berries to cross the Five Fiery Rings of Volcanic Fire to receive a key to the Lost City. Joni, Santiago and Laptrap have save Joni’s uncle from Mathra in, for ten points, what educational computer game?
- a. Cluefinders 3rd Grade Adventures: Mystery of Mathra <Misc.--Education Video Games>
16. One of these events took place in 1960, after a player refused to stop dancing, and that player was Jimmy Piersall. Steve Garvey had this happen to him while walking to home plate to take his at-bat, which then prompted his team’s manager to review video footage. Another one of these events happened to Nolan Arenado after being hit by a 96 mile per hour fastball, but not before he charged the mound. Atlanta Braves manager Bobby Cox holds the record number of, for ten points, what punishment in baseball that may occur from arguing with an umpire or having unsportsmanlike conduct?
- a. Being Ejected from the game [Accept any answer that references being removed from the game by the umps, like Tossed out for example] <Sports--Baseball>
17. This person gave evidence in the trial United States of America v. David Kernell while acting as a government witness. The person’s true name was revealed in a July 9, 2009 article in the Wall Street Journal, and that same day this person was called "one of the most [significant]" influencers of online content evolution by Lev Grossman. This man was voted the World’s Most influential Person of 2008 in a poll conducted by Time magazine, though it was later revealed that automated voting programs stuffed the ballot box for this person. He’s not Hiroyuki Nishimura, but, for ten points, identify this creator of 4chan who stepped down in 2015.
- a. Moot [Accept Christopher Poole] <Internet Life>

- 18. Matching tattoos this couple share include the phrase “H2GKMO”, meaning “Honest to god, knock me out” and small clouds on their fingers. One member of this celebrity couple asked on instagram “Why should I spend any time on negative energy when my real life is fucking lit” in reference to rumors about this celebrity couple ending their engagement. This duo first met in March 2016 when one member hosted and starred as music talent in a show where the other was a new cast member. For ten points, identify his celebrity couple comprised of an Saturday Night Live comedian and the singer of “Dangerous Woman”
- a. Pete Davidson and Ariana Grande [Accept either order] <Personalities>
- 19. The song that featured this dance move has appeared in a remix by SiivaGunner of Hilltop Zone from Sonic 2. Before this dance move is shown, a man says that it was made so that the viewer “can stay aware, stay safe and maybe even have a little fun”. In the video for this dance move, a man named Charles Dolling discloses that he was arrested three times for vandalism, and Laura Hughes proves that women can do “it” too, though “it” actually refers to “touching your cousin” instead of this dance. For ten points, name this fictional dance move that the state of Florida has asked certain offenders to do before they move into your neighborhood.
- a. The Sex-Offender Shuffle <Misc.>
- 20. In one episode of this show, the host rolls out a piece of polyfiber carpet to serve a recipe in a traditional fashion. In another episode of this show, the host claims that the Krabby Patty Secret ingredient is actually “nothing” though he also entertains the idea that it is Monosodium Glutamate. The intro to early episodes of this show is a section of the Frasier theme song that sings “Hey baby, I hear the blues a’callin tossed salads and scrambled eggs” which references the foody nature of this Youtube series. For ten points, identify this internet cooking show in which Andrew Rea [ray-ah] makes recipes featured in film and television.
- a. Binging With Babish <Food and Drink>
- 21. In May 2018, this brand announced a partnership with the Discovery Channel’s Shark Week to celebrate Shark Week’s 30th anniversary and this brand’s 20th anniversary. The owners of this brand claimed they “traded in [their] business suits for bathing suits” to reflect their coastal upbringing and those brothers spent the summer of 1998 selling ties. This brand was placed on Inc. magazine’s list of fastest growing companies in 2007, likely from this brand’s revenue tripling. Shep and Ian Murray created, for ten points, what clothing brand with the slogan “every day should feel this good” that is named after an island off the coast of Massachusetts.
- a. Vineyard Vines <Fashion>
- 22. Character and action required. The episode in which this character does this action begins with the line “And after he bagged her, he bagged Marilyn Monroe”. This character faints as a result of this action, but not before hallucinating various celebrities in a shopping center. This character claims he cleaned house during this activity thanks to TV Theme songs and this character says “Data” while performing this activity, but is reprimanded for not being acknowledged by the quiz master. The King of the Hill episode “Stressed for Success” involves, for ten points, which person, the son of Hank Hill, doing the activity you might also be doing at this moment?
- a. Bobby Hill playing Quiz Bowl [bad quiz bowl at that] <Sports--Yes this is a sport :) >