

P.R.O.B.S.T. - Peter's Ridiculously Over-Bearing Survivor Trivia

A Peter Hotvedt Packet

[MODNOTE: for names accept first or last name, no need for both]

Toss Ups

1. This castaway named an adopted dog after their merged tribe's name, which means "star", and this castaway noted that they'd like to bring the book "The Art of War" to the island. They're not Rudy Boesch, but this castaway is the first castaway since Survivor All-Stars to be older than 70 years old during their season, and this castaway was medically evacuated after experiencing an inability to urinate. For ten points, identify this castaway who took 5th place on Survivor Kaoh-Rong.
 - a. Joseph "Joe" Del Campo
2. This object was initially found by a castaway who told another castaway to remove their teeth on a later season, but this object was eventually traded to the opposing tribe in favor of fishing gear. This item had a 100% success rate in helping tribes win challenges, though the La Flor tribe did win a challenge without using it before it was discontinued. For ten points, name this flop of a twist that gave tribes slight challenge advantages which appeared briefly in Survivor Nicaragua.
 - a. The Medallion of Power
3. Description acceptable. Before this event occurs, one castaway tells another "Let's be noble". During this event, the scene's protagonist states that his foundation is "Unbreakable, unbending, unyielding, immeasurable, immovable" and "invincible". During this event, the main character lays in a pool of shallow water while vultures circle overhead, and debarks a branch, christened a "dragon cane" to create Jesus-like imagery. For ten points, name this event that happens in "The Martyr Approach" after J.T. wins reward.
 - a. Coach goes to Exile Island [accept The Best 5 to 10 minutes in the history of Survivor or variations]
4. In his campaign video for Survivor Cambodia, Jeff Varner stated that he abhorred this food, while in Survivor Cook Islands, both the Aitutaki and Rarotonga tribes chose this food as an option in a rewards catalog. In Survivor Caramoan, Andrea Boehlke smeared this substance all over her face before the end of the Survivor Auction for consumption later. For ten points, name this foodstuff that, along with chocolate, got Jenna Morasca and Heidi Strobel to strip in Survivor Amazon.
 - a. Peanut Butter
5. Amber Birkch is the first person to win this type of challenge both as an individual and as a tribe member, while her husband Rob is the only other person to do so. Survivor Amazon featured the first iteration of the blind version of one of these, while Survivor Vanuatu featured a vertical version of one of these. For ten points, identify this kind of challenge that has appeared as the penultimate challenge in early seasons which involves players traversing various paths, with some leading to dead ends, while other leading to a goal.
 - a. The Maze
6. This castaway said that the howler monkey cries were "the most annoyingest noise" he had ever heard, and that swatting away mosquitoes only works for "a millimeter of a second". Despite not finding it, this castaway was the first person to ever receive a clue to a hidden immunity idol, and at a certain tribal council, this castaway stood up and proclaimed he was a good sportsmanship and did not in fact have A.D.D. [ayy-dee-dee]. For ten points, name this castaway from Survivor Guatemala who, upon being blinded, called everyone scumbags.
 - a. Judd Sergeant

7. One member of this group ruined things for the other three members when they told the season's eventual winner that an idol had been transferred. This alliance believed that they would be able to control the game at the merge with an idol they found, despite being down in numbers four to six. While not in this alliance, Lisi Linares voted with them to blindside Rocky Reid. For ten points identify this ill-fated alliance of Alex Angrita, Mookie Lee, Edgardo Rivera and Dreamz Herd named after a group described in the Book of Revelation.
 - a. The Four Horsemen [anti-prompt on Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse]
8. This season has a record low number of women being voted at four total, due in part to two women having to drop due to a failed medical exam and another woman quitting. This isn't Survivor: The Australian Outback, but Jeff Probst brought a bag of rice to a tribe, but took all of that tribe's rewards and that tribe's name is Hunahpu[hoo-nah-poo]. Featuring castaways like the badass Drew Christy and winner Natalie Anderson, for ten points, identify this season of Survivor, the 29th season and the second Blood Vs. Water Season.
 - a. Survivor: San Juan Del Sur
9. This castaway could be heard singing the song "99 Bottles of Beer on the Wall" before falling off a beam into the water. In addition to falling into the ocean, this castaway was also bitten by a shark, but in self-defense, decided to bite the shark in return. This castaway allegedly smuggled matches in a plastic bag hidden in his butt and later was accused of sexual harassment by Sue Hawk on Survivor All Stars. For ten points, name this winner who was sent to prison for tax evasion after winning the first season of Survivor.
 - a. Richard Hatch
10. One castaway noted while doing this action that something felt like a color, and that player was eventually correct. The colors of the objects involved in this process have never been consistent, with the bad object being white, black or purple. In Heroes vs. Healers vs. Hustlers, Ashley Nolan said that she was willing to do this with Devon Pinto to beat the 2-2 tie vote with the Healers while on Levu. For ten points, name this controversial means of elimination that removed Paschal English and Jessica Lewis from their respective season.
 - a. Drawing Rocks [Accept similar descriptions]
11. One character who was inherited by this tribe eventually was medevaced after having "a pretty poo poo day". Another castaway from this tribe was set to return for Heroes Vs. Villains, South Pacific and Cambodia, but was cut every time. Mario Lanza called this tribe the twelfth funniest thing to happen on the show between seasons 12 and 20, and that they were a dominant trainwreck. For ten points name this tribe that initially started with older women, but eventually had players like Bruce Kanegai and Shane Powers from Survivor Panama.
 - a. Casaya
12. This character was interviewed at a reunion show in response to allegations about their well-being. This character's existence, or perhaps lack thereof was present in an episode titled "The Great Lie", specifically during the loved one's visit. This person's relative laughed about the fact that this character was not dead, and was likely watching Jerry Springer as he gave his confessional. For ten points identify this relative of a survivor from Survivor Pearl Islands who was thought to be dead thanks to Thunder D.
 - a. Jonny Fairplay's Grandma
13. In Survivor Cambodia, a new design of certain objects was imposed to make it difficult to differentiate these objects from other similar objects. An unintentional one of these objects was unwittingly played by Jaime Dugan in Survivor China, and Chrissy Hofbeck tried to pull a fast one on Ben by using one of these in Season 35. Bob Crowley crafted one of these objects for Randy Bailey to play, ultimately leading to an extremely hilarious vote out. For ten points identify these objects that are made to mimic immunity granting devices.
 - a. Fake Hidden Immunity Idols

14. One person with this last name bullied Albert DeStrade during a family visit, while another person with this surname competed on Big Brother 14. One castaway with this surname likened himself to a honey badger, while another castaway with this surname created a namesake factor involving idol clues. Some Survivor experts have likened Survivor Samoa to be a preview reel for Survivor: Heroes Vs. Villains for a castaway with this last name. For ten points, give this common surname of Survivor players like Brandon and Russell.
- a. Hantz [Russell Hantz, Brandon Hantz, Willie Hantz, Shawn Hantz]
15. This castaway appeared in a White Chair Film on the Youtube Channel “I Am Second” about his experience in the game, and after the show, this castaway appeared in the film “Dear White People” credited as Wyatt Nash. In response to being voted out at the merge, another castaway called the move to vote this middleman out “genius”, and this castaway competed in every Redemption Island duel on his season until his elimination. For ten points, identify this castaway, the first castaway to return from Redemption Island.
- a. Matthew Elrod [Do not accept Wyatt Nash]
16. During an iteration of this challenge, one castaway is told that he is not allowed to karate chop his opponent. During another version of this challenge, one castaway mistakenly, albeit correctly, claims that their tribe isn’t “going back to immunity”. In San Juan del Sur, Missy accidentally gives her daughter a split lip during this challenge, and in Blood Versus Water, Tyson fakes a shoulder injury after being hit. For ten points, identify this challenge that involves castaways brawling other castaways in attempts to push them off a platform.
- a. Sumo at Sea [accept close descriptions]
17. Stephen Fishbach tweeted that “singed fingers are worth it” in response to this castaway’s actions. They’re not Tai Trang, but this castaway is the only other castaway to hold an extra vote and a hidden immunity idol at the same point, though ironically neither were used before this castaway was voted out 1-0. This castaway gained ire online for stating that she never trusted a ginger in response to her annoying hustler tribe-mate Patrick Bolton. For ten points name this contestant who took seventh place in Heroes vs. Healers vs. Hustlers.
- a. Lauren Rimmer
18. One of these events involved ignoring certain castaways to hide the fact that one of them was absent, while another one of these events controversially involved Rosie O’Donnell. Youtuber Peridiam described one of these events as a bit of a wash, and a coronation of the season’s winner. This event’s name is now a misnomer as various castaways interact before this event. For ten points, name this event where the winner of a season is revealed, and usually involves a preview for the following season.
- a. Reunion Show
19. In a strange case, the person with this title was voted out a day earlier than usual while, another person with this unofficial title was eliminated immediately after giving up during a twelve hour challenge, and those two people are Cydney Gillon and Ian Rosenberger. In some cases players gain this title after being eliminated by a fire-making challenge after a 2-2 tie vote. For ten points, identify this role that is shared by castaways like David Wright, Rafe Judkins and Kathy Vavrick-O’Brien whose members are typically voted out on Day 38.
- a. Final Juror [Prompt on final person voted out]
20. One meme involving a castaway’s fascination with milk came from the fact that they couldn’t consume this thing. During the auction in Survivor Caramoan, one castaway made a fatal flaw for bidding on peanuts and this item for twenty dollars. In Survivor Allstars, players were very happy to hear that a yacht would have more than just this drink during a reward. For ten points, name this alcoholic beverage that underage players like Will Wahl were not allowed to drink.
- a. Beer
